Hello Friends and Family,

It has been a very busy first week of Learning at Home. For many of the educators at Jockvale it has meant learning how to use unfamiliar technologies and new strategies for connecting with students. We are very proud to say that all classes have taken their initial steps into Learning at Home.

Educators are discovering what 5 hours a week of learning look like at home. For some, they are finding that their students are far more focused when learning on their own, while others do better with peers nearby. Our youngest students are finding that learning can happen anywhere.

In the coming week we should have a much clearer sense of what assessment will be and how it will apply to daily learning and evaluation of student achievement.

In the meantime, happy holidays to all who are celebrating this weekend and a safe and healthy weekend to all,

Janis St Germain
